Claim 53 recites the limitation "relative to the wiring device" in the third line thereof. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 40-43, 46-47, 49, 51, 53 and 62-67 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 96/07984 by Mundigl et al hereinafter '984. The '984 teaches a process of making a smart card module for a contactless smart card wherein wire is placed onto a substrate so as to form a coil and the ends of the wire are connected to to a chip. It would have been obvious to connect the wires to the chip by means of a connecting instrument if indeed the '984 does not expressly teach the same inasmuch as this would be the expedient and quickest way to do this step. As applied to Claims 41, 42, 51, 62, 66 and 67, it is held that the use of an ultrasonic means to bond the wire onto the substrate is a mere matter of design choice inasmuch as Applicants advance no purpose therefore nor provide any problem which is solved thereby. Moreover the limitation of using ultrasonic means to bond wires onto a substrate such as applicants recite is known in this art ans hence is held to have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art,

Claims 44, 45, 48, 50, 52, and 54-61 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 78 is held to be allowable.

It appears that one of Applicants' foreign priority documents viz. German Pat No. 196 04 840.0 with a date of February 12, 1996 may precede the tachings used for this rejection. Therefore it is requested that applicants obtain an English translation of this document to ascertain the content thereof.
